The home page for our site, StarVestments. The home page adds the ability to view the most popular games (highest searched for) and the highest priced games at a glance. Our site shows its users the estimated prices of a game and it shows the historical data. Thomas Peck also added the navbar which helps the user navigate around the site. The UI is clean and easy to use, slight edits were made to the bootstrap defaults for aesthetic reasoning, for example the baby blue table headers or the curved search form.

About about.html - William Jeong

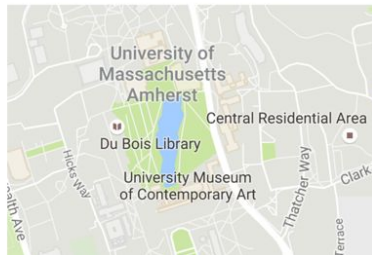

-Our Mission-

To predict future game prices

About

At StarVestments, our goal for our members is to accurately predict an up and coming game that is readily available on steam. We want to ensure that all gamers can have access to their favorite games as fast as possible, and as cheap as possible. Our algorithm to compute future prices involves the total amount of players online for that certain game, added to the number of online members with the game in his or her wishlist, and divide that sum by its current cost. We believe that our web application can potentially change the landscape of the gaming community by bringing the best value in steam's market.

Location

The about page was made by William Jeong. This page displays the main purpose of the website to the user and how the site analyzes the data received. It also displays where the startup is located.

Description:

Submit

The support page functions as a portal to report problems with the website. The page takes in a title and a description of the problem, and hitting a submit will send that information to the developers (us). An email with information regarding the request will be sent to the user's email (which is displayed on the Profile page).
